Dear Sir:

We are not interested in your ten peso gold piece of Costa Rica. It is a rare coin but the twenty peso is the one that is considered extremely rare. At the present time we know of no one in this country who would be interested in it, as the two chief collectors of South American gold have sold their collections on account of the depression. We are sending your letter, however, to one man who might possibly be interested. His name is Mr. Wayte Raymond, in case you should hear from him.

Very truly yours,

HW:JG
